Alp yourself: The glacier at Kaprun guarantees snow all year

KAPRUN, AUSTRIA

Not many people think about Kaprun but I recently skied the Kitzsteinhorn Glacier and the snow is in top shape. Together with neighbouring resort Zell am See, Kaprun offers 130km of pistes – and 50km of those are on the glacier, which guarantees snow 365 days a year. On super-warm sunny days swap skis for sails or stand-up paddle on Lake Zell. Random tip: you can buy an 18-pack of Jägermeister in the supermarket for €14 (£12) – but keep it for the chalet party rather than the slopes.

On a high: The area offers 130km of pistes

From £764 for seven nights at the Hotel Kaprun, including flights, departing April 1, crystalski.co.uk

Good loching: On sunny days you can paddle on Lake Zell

GEILO, NORWAY

Norway has just been officially declared the happiest place on Earth by a UN report. Add mountains and snow, and for ski fans you'll have perfection. The ski season in Geilo holds out longer than in many European resorts with skiing into late April. And if cross-country is your thing, you can langlauf happily here until May. The resort isn't huge but the area is beautiful and offers food for the soul.

From £1,025 for seven nights at the Vestlia Resort, including return flights, departing April 1, skisafari.com

Slope off: Geilo offers great skiing and beautiful scenery

Spring

Abigail Butcher rounds up

ZERMATT, SWITZERLAND

One of the golden rules for late-season skiing is to aim high, and at the foot of the Matterhorn car-free Zermatt sits at 1,620m, with a ski area that extends up to 3,820m on the Klein Matterhorn glacier. Its slopes are mainly north-facing so the snow stays well into spring. From April 4-8 there's the added bonus of the resort's now annual acoustic festival, Zermatt Unplugged, which this year features Paolo Nutini, Nelly Furtado and Ronnie Scott's All Stars.

From £1,310 for seven nights at the Hotel Matterhorn, including flights and car hire, departing April 3, flexiski.com

on to the slopes

the world's best skiing spots for a last-minute dash to the piste

Natural highs: Enjoy open-air night clubbing in this pretty French resort

VAL THORENS, FRANCE

With access to 600km of pistes across the Three Valleys, Val Thorens is the place to head for guaranteed snow and spring fun – the resort sits at a lofty 2,300m with a ski area up to 3,230m. The new ski-in, ski-out, four-star Fahrenheit Seven hotel offers one of the best sunny terraces in resort too. Just one lift away is renowned après spot La Folie Douce, which thrives in spring. What better time to enjoy an open-air, on-the-slopes nightclub?

From £1,155 for seven nights at the Fahrenheit Seven, half board, departing April 1, skicollection.co.uk

Mammoth task: Enjoy plentiful snow on uncrowded slopes in California

MAMMOTH, USA

This season, Mammoth has broken world records for its snowfall, with just over 13m so far this season. There's been so much snow, in fact, that the resort, set above Mammoth Lakes, is staying open until July 4, so you can ski right into summer. With a reputation for uncrowded slopes and some of the best terrain parks you'll find anywhere in the world, Mammoth is worth the trip. Combine it with a visit to LA and you have a winning combo.

From £1,335 for seven nights at the Mammoth Mountain Inn, including return flights, departing April 2, skisafari.com
